Dear Shri Arvind Kejriwal ji,

We all know that our Armed Forces personnel serve the country in very arduous circumstances. Having visited many forward areas, I can say confidently that they defend our borders in challenging conditions even at the cost of their lives.

They are busy in treacherous terrains guarding and defending our borders staying away from their homes and families. This is true for all Armed Forces such as Indian Army, Air Force and Navy as well as various Central Armed Forces like BSF, ITBP and CRPF etc. and also the retired personnel of all three forces.

Under these circumstances, it is our duty to look after them and their families properly. They get limited time to visit their homes to sort out various issues their families face. Some of these issues need to be resolved at different levels in different offices in the state. I am writing to you to seek your cooperation in your state for issuing directions to get their matters resolved expeditiously, fairly, and honourably.

Whenever they, or in their absence, their family members visit any office for some official work, it would be appropriate if they are treated warmly and with dignity and the required service is delivered to them promptly. It would help in keeping their morale high and they will be at peace and emotionally satisfied about their home front to serve the nation with greater vigour and enthusiasm.

With regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Rajnath Singh)
